Team USB Disk (C112)

Team C112 is a USB flash drive designed with a push-out connector. When in use, simply press the release button and push out the USB connector to connect to the computer.

The design of through-hole for straps makes it convenient for charms and rings to be attached on; and the push-in/out connector prevents the cap from falling off when in use. The streamline design and exquisite color combination with no doubt attract everyone's attention, not to mention the friendly and appealing price. All the above-mentioned features will be your top reason to choose Team C112.
